The collaborative approach extends beyond the train station project.

A Vision for a Vibrant Downtown

A Chapter of Transformation Begins

In Hatfield, a town rich in history and cherished by generations, a transformative chapter is unfolding under the guidance of Stephen Barth, President of the Barth Consulting Group. Recently appointed as the Economic Development Consultant for the Borough, Barth's passion for preserving the town's charm while fostering new growth is evident as he undertakes an ambitious three-year plan aimed at revitalizing downtown Hatfield. With 40 years of experience, he has a solid foundation in bringing towns to life. Regarding Hatfield, Barth states, "The long-term goal is to create a vibrant, walkable downtown."

The Catalyst

The catalyst for this transformative initiative is the iconic train station, a now vacant commercial hub that played a pivotal role in the town's economic activities, including helping people get to and from the city, as well as serving as a commercial center where farmers could bring their goods to be shipped to Philadelphia. Barth envisions the station, a 2,500-square-foot architectural treasure built in the 1870s, as the crown jewel of Hatfield's revitalization effort. Having secured a lease agreement with SEPTA (Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority) in June, the Borough now has the opportunity to breathe the new life into this historical landmark.

Shaping Hatfield's Future Together

Barth's strategic approach involves engaging the community in the decision-making process, emphasizing the importance of aligning the goals of the community with the Borough Council's vision. Through surveys and town hall meetings, residents will actively contribute to shaping the future of Hatfield. This collaborative model extends to developers who share the community's vision, fostering relationships where everyone benefits. Barth states, "One of the things that I really love about working with Hatfield, so far, is you can feel there's this warmth here in the Borough. People really love this community. And so what this will do is allow everybody to have a voice in the process."

Acting as an emissary for the town, Barth actively engages with new businesses, ensuring their successful integration into the community, including working with investors, locating and securing grants to fund projects, etc. The emphasis on business retention and recruitment highlights a commitment to creating a thriving economic landscape for years to come.

Hatfield's unique makeup, with businesses owned by different ethnic groups, adds to the richness of its community. Barth works to provide open communication channels with all residents, fostering an inclusive environment where voices are heard and valued. The Borough's forward-thinking approach is evident in the various grants offered to support community initiatives, showcasing a commitment to positive change.

A Delicate Balance

The heart of Hatfield's approach lies in the delicate balance between preserving its historical heritage and embracing growth. This is achieved through the establishment of strong partnerships with successful local businesses, as well as a focus on the Borough's future growth and advancement. The emphasis on "mixed use" spaces allows for a pleasant blend of retail or commercial establishments on the first floor and possible apartments on the second or third floors, promoting a vibrant community where businesses and residents coexist.

As Barth navigates the intricacies of Hatfield's development, he emphasizes the importance of a thoughtful and meticulous approach. Stewardship emerges as a guiding principle for his work, focusing on decisions that serve the greatest good for the most people over the longest period. This helps ensure that decisions are aimed at creating a lasting legacy for the community.

The Long-Term

Barth's unique approach involves not only addressing immediate needs but also envisioning long-term prosperity. With access to RACP Funding, a state grant for major anchor projects, and the collaborative efforts of the Borough's staff and council, Hatfield is uniquely positioned for accelerated and impactful development. As Barth prepares to work hand in hand with Hatfield, his commitment to the community promises a future of economic growth and community prosperity. Hatfield's journey, under Barth's leadership, is about cultivating a shared vision that celebrates its rich history while embracing the possibilities that tomorrow holds.

Residents and businesses, your voice matters. Take an active role in shaping the future of Hatfield by participating in town hall meetings and completing the surveys. Be on the lookout for more information. Your input is vital to building a vibrant and flourishing town together.

The train station underwent meticulous cleaning and preparation, transforming it into a blank canvas for potential tenants.

Honoring a Living Legacy

Sometimes referred to as “Mr. Hatfield,” Larry has been an integral part of the town for decades, leaving an indelible mark on its history and its people.

In the heart of Hatfield, amidst the close-knit community, resides a man whose name is synonymous with dedication and service - Larry Stevens. Sometimes referred to as “Mr. Hatfield,” Larry has been an integral part of the town for decades, leaving an indelible mark on its history and its people. A recent interview with Larry reveals a life immersed in community service, a passion for preserving local history, and a genuine commitment to making Hatfield a better place for all.

Larry’s connection with Hatfield dates back to 1966 when his family moved to the borough. Born in suburban Pittsburgh, his mother’s pursuit of better work opportunities brought them to this welcoming community. Over the years, Larry became an indispensable part of Hatfield, witnessing and contributing to its development.

A Journey of Service

Larry’s dedication encapsulates a lifetime of volunteer work and service that has touched various aspects of Hatfield’s community. From his role as a volunteer firefighter for 20 years to his involvement with numerous organizations, his contributions have been diverse and impactful.

His journey with the Chamber of Commerce began simply as a citizen eager to become more involved in his community. But he quickly was appointed treasurer and eventually the Executive Director.

As a member of the Chamber, he became increasingly aware of various initiatives, most notably a sign ordinance with potential implications for local businesses. This initial involvement sparked his ongoing interest in local government procedures, prompting him to continue attending council meetings. This commitment eventually led him to become a Council member, a role in which he served from 1992-2023.

Larry’s contributions didn’t stop there. He went on to serve for many years, contributing to various committees.

Preserving Hatfield’s Heritage

Larry’s commitment to preserving Hatfield’s rich history shines through his involvement with the Hatfield Museum and History Society. Through the years, his efforts played a pivotal role in establishing the society and eventually realizing its dream of having a museum.

From collecting and preserving artifacts to educating the public with various programs, the Hatfield Museum and History Society is dedicated to promoting Hatfield’s history and preserving that rich heritage for future generations. Larry’s passion for local history resonates in every exhibit and in the books he has authored, emphasizing Hatfield’s unique story. His publications serve as valuable resources, capturing the essence of Hatfield’s past and can be found at the museum:

- History of Hatfield Borough, 1898 – 1998
- Walking Tour of Historic Hatfield Borough
- The Hatfield Museum & History Society 20th Anniversary Collection
- The Hatfield Horror – The Story of the Great Hatfield Train Wreck of 1900

Shaping the Future

As a councilman since 1992, Larry has actively contributed to Hatfield’s growth. His list of accomplishments is extensive, including his involvement with the development of

Some areas in which he has served include the following:

- Hatfield Economic Revitalization Committee
 - Member (2000 to present)
 - Treasurer (2000-2007),
 - President/Chairman (2008-2021)
- Hatfield Chamber of Commerce
 - Treasurer for over 30 years
 - Executive Director for 15 years
- Hatfield Museum & History Society - Co-Founder and President (1991-Present)
- Borough of Hatfield - Councilman (1992 - 2023, Retired)
- Hatfield Borough Planning Commission - Commissioner (1993 - Present)
- Centennial Celebration Committee (1995-1998)
- 250 Committee (2022- Present)

new parks (Centennial Park, Heritage Park, Electric Plant Park, Liberty Bell Trail, and Liberty Bell Plaza and Parking Lot Improvements), and with large-scale projects like the Heather Meadows Development, and various revitalization projects, including the Hatfield Borough Streetscape Project (underground electric, street trees, Victorian street lights, etc.), the new public works facility, and the new municipal building.

The positive impact of his efforts is undeniable, shaping Hatfield’s present and future. And we’re not the only ones who’ve noticed. In 2010, Larry received another well-deserved honor when he was recognized as the PA Borough Councils Association Outstanding Council Member of the Year for Eastern Pennsylvania. This prestigious award was presented to him at the Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs Annual Conference.

A Humble Legacy

In recognition of his unwavering commitment, Hatfield Borough recently renamed its “Citizen of the Year” award to “The Lawrence G. Stevens Distinguished Service Award,” a fitting tribute to a man who dedicated decades to the betterment of Hatfield.

Reflecting on this honor, Larry said, “It was exciting. I felt very honored to have that type of recognition.” The newly named award stands as a testament to Larry’s lasting impact on the community he holds dear.

While he has officially retired as a Councilman, Larry continues to contribute to the community, attending council meetings, staying involved with the Planning Commission, and championing the Hatfield Museum and History Society.

While he isn’t one to love being in the spotlight, Larry Stevens is undoubtedly a key figure in Hatfield. His devotion serves as a reminder of the importance of community involvement, historical preservation, and the lasting impact of an individual dedicated to making a difference. In the heart of Hatfield, Larry’s story is an inspiration to those around him and for generations to come.

Mayor Girard recognizing Larry Stevens

GOOD NEWS

The Borough Council approved the 2024 budget during their December meeting. The $10.8 million operating budget ensures no increase to the 3.25mil real estate tax, including the fire tax, and no hikes in electric or sewer rates.

Despite rising service costs, the Borough remains committed to planned infrastructure projects, including the following:

- ADA improvements
- Utility replacement projects
- Upgrades to sanitary sewer
- Roadway resurfacing
- Upgrades to electric
- Upgrades to stormwater systems

Funding has also been allocated for the VMSC in the North Penn Area.

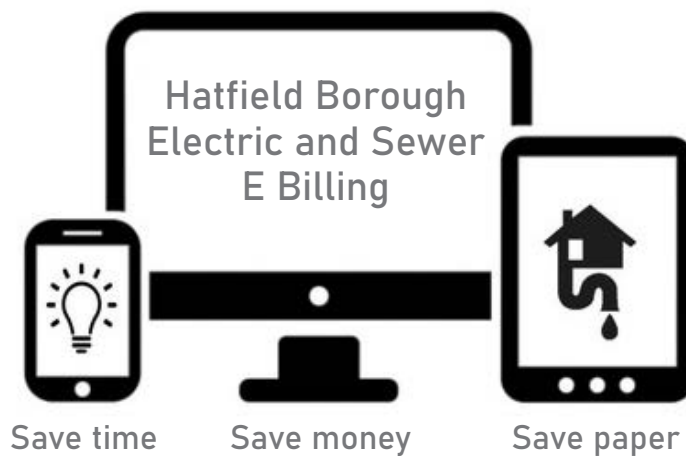

Thank you to all members of the Council, Mayor Girard, and staff for their dedication to the budget process.

Did you know that Hatfield Borough customers can now receive their utility bills conveniently via email?

Say goodbye to paper bills! With email billing, your electric and sewer bills go directly to your inbox, eliminating the need to wait for mail delivery or the chance of misplacing the paper copy.

Enjoy the flexibility of accessing your bills anytime, anywhere. Email billing offers instant delivery and is an eco-friendly choice that helps the Borough cut costs on printing and postage, ultimately keeping expenses low.

To sign up, contact the Hatfield Borough Office at 215-855-0781 (option 4) or email utilitybilling@hatfieldborough.com. Remember to regularly check your email, keep your email address updated, and add utilitybilling@hatfieldborough.com to your contacts to ensure uninterrupted billing updates.
